

Hurricane City News!

"Danish Freefall Simulator Project. The biggest indoor skydiving project in Northern Europe!"

It is a pleasure to inform that DFSP continues the good cooperation with John and Jesper Madsen. The main responsibility of John Madsen will primarily be company foundation and minimisation of establishment and construction costs. Jesper Madsen has agreed to analyse the market survey and resolve technical issues.

DFSP's project group have moved into the second phase. We have had a number of enquiries from possible collaborators both in Denmark and our neighbour countries. We are now analysing the different possibilities to find the best solution. In this phase we will probably have to compromise on some areas but we will make an effort to get as many of our key issues through as possible for the benefit of us all.

We all have a passion for the skydiving sport and with DFSP's project we hope to contribute with expanding the sport in the North.

C U in Hurricane City!

Danish freefall simulator project
Peter C. Bruun, Project manager
Søborg, den 1. oktober 2007
Homepage: <http://dfsp.dk>